

Regions are discovered in the original normalized structural space; outlines show soft 70% density contours.